Mill Postponement

To Rival Contracts

Postponement of plans for a new mill to serve the small-forest holdings in Oklahoma and Arkansas is attributed by Dierks Forests, Inc., to the fact that too many newspapers are tied up on long-term contracts with other mills. Vice-President Fred M. Dierks spoke particularly of the larger newspapers, but it is probably equally true of the smaller ones.

I know that The Star bought newsprint in car lots on the open market through most of the 1930's—but there came a day when I was jangling the air with a certified check and couldn't buy a pound of paper from any mill. A publisher friend, not my Texarkana partner, managed to help me out with an extra car his mill didn't know about—and right then and there I changed my buying policy.

We've been on 5-year contracts with Southland at Lufkin, Texas, ever since that mill started in 1940. Lufkin added a second paper-making machine late in the 1940's, and is promising to go into production with a third machine—and The Star last year expanded its contract commitment on the basis of this expanded production.

The Dierks mill plans have been played until a series of expansions by existing mills have temporarily "loaded" the publishers. Look at the record: Lufkin developed the first new newsprint mill in the history of the South in 1940, doubled its capacity, and now is tripling it. The No. 2 Southern pine mill went up at Conasa Pines, Ala., in the late 1940's, and is doubling its capacity. Last year the British Birminghams opened up a third Southern mill at Cleveland, Tenn., east of Chattanooga, at a cost of 60 million dollars. And to cap this the largest of all paper manufacturers, International, which makes newsprint in Canada and kraft and book paper in the South, announced this spring that it would build a newsprint mill in the South—planning this mill at possibly Camden, Ark., or Mobile, Ala.

Regardless of our controversy with Dierks over Mill Dierks, we are for the company in its ambition to put a newsprint mill in this section. It means industry and wealth for this corner of the world. And there can't be too many newsprint mills in the South, in the long run — for we would have to build dozens of them to restore the United States to the position of a net exporter. Before the Northern States mills turned to other paper products and let the newsprint business go to the Canadians by default.

For the record I am printing below a Southern Newspaper Publishers Association bulletin dated February 28 regarding the announcement of Dierks' postponement. Quote—

Fred M. Dierks, vice president of Dierks Forests, Inc., announced on February 19 that directors of his company had decided to "postpone indefinitely" the company's plan to build a newsprint mill. Officials claimed "difficulties" in securing direct commitments for newsprint as well as other important factors for the decision.

The announcement was followed up with a statement by President Dierks that there would be no newsprint mill at this time because of the large paper in our nature in the larger territory are tied up on long-term contracts. If we could make a deal with some other mill, we would over some of those contracts, there still might be a mill, but it just doesn't look like it now.

Frederick H. Dierks stated also that his company plans to build some kind of a mill eventually "in some Oklahoma" in the near future. We've spent several hundred thousands of dollars in development work, even about $100,000 for additional real estate, and we are not quitting. It may have to be kept paper, or a building board, but there will be something to use pulp wood. That we know."

The company had planned to invest approximately $12 million in the mill to produce between 50 and 60,000 tons of newsprint annually. Company officials said a deal of $3,000 tons a year in contracts with newspapers before starting operations, but commitments obtained were substantially short of that goal.

The Dierks firm recently reopened a lumber mill at Wrightsville and Broken Bow, Okla., following a six-month workmen's strike. In addition to the strike, the mill had been troubled by tax assessments on its Oklahoma property at the proposed site of the mill. However, a compromise agreement was reached recently to the reappraisal of the Dierks property, and it was generally believed that the mill would be reopened promptly with its plans for building the mill.

Announcing postponement of the mill plans, Fred Dierks said the management "wishes to thank the many publishers and public-spirited citizens who have taken an interest in the project." He also expressed thanks for help from the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the Texas Newspaper Publishers Association, the Texas Newspaper Publishers Association, the Texas Newspaper Publishers Association, and their committee.

Adm. Robert Carney, U. S. chief of Southern operations, was expected to visit yesterday. "I sincerely hope the council will be able to bring about a settlement of the matter," he said. "I believe that in the interests of the American people, President Eisenhower should be as far as possible, otherwise a charge of hope and entered the Army in 1948."

This caused some Republican colleagues to speculate he might "D-O" already his done — and this made more difficult their fight to regain control of the Senate.

Langer, who frequently would with Senate Democrats and against administration proposals, said in an interview he had no such thought in mind.

"I will be campaigning for Eisenhower in 1956 if he is the non-partisan League in North Dakota last week that wherever the League decided to go in support of a candidate he will go with it — including the Democratic column."

Chiang Fears U. S. to Give Up Quemoy

By WILLIAM MILLER

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — The Nationalists fear that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will ask the United States to give up Quemoy and Matsu in exchange for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, reliable sources reported today.

Dulles is scheduled to arrive in Taipei tomorrow for a visit. He is expected to discuss the Formosa crisis with Chiang Kai-shek and other American and Chinese officials.

Vice Adm. Alfred M. Price, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet, who arrived here today from Japan, told newsmen today the fleet is "substantially" as strong as it was during the Tachen evacuation and is prepared to meet any Communist attack.

Pride refused to disclose whether the fleet would move deeper into the strait between Formosa and Matsu and said he would reveal only tactics, but he said the fleet would be ready to reveal his.

Dulles has hinted the Seventh Fleet would defend Quemoy and Matsu if a Communist attack were aimed at Formosa and the Pescadore Islands, but he has not made a clear announcement.

Britain, seeking to end the Formosa crisis, has suggested that giving up the two offshore bases would mean an automatic cease-fire. Nationalist leaders have repeatedly said they will never leave these two remaining islands.

There was speculation in Taipei that matters would be given up to the Chinese government. Which is to be feared.

Most of it centered on the Formosa crisis. The United States was reluctant to defend Matsu and Quemoy. Official sources refused to say whether the U. S. would be changed through the country.

AP & L Bond Deal Is Before PSC

By LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

The State Public Service Commission has taken under advisement a request by Arkansas Power & Light Co. to call in and refundance its $3 million bonds and the firm's $3,500,000 preferred stock.

AP & L's new plan would allow the company to refundance its bonds at a rate of not more than 3 1/2 percent with a net saving of at least $24,000.

He added that a new series of preferred stock would be issued with the hope of saving about $157,000 a year through lower dividend payments.

PSC Chairman Lewis Robinson said a decision on the request probably will be announced in about a week.

Both sides in the politically potent dispute were preparing for the Senate debate, possibly starting Friday. The Democratic Senate leadership indicated it plans to make a party fight for the tax cut. But one source said about 10 Democratic senators mostly from the South, might refuse to go along.

Byrd said he was confident the Senate would not reverse his committee's vote yesterday. He said the income tax cut would be a big step in the fight to reduce the federal deficit.

Exactly a week ago this morning the temporary reading room at the University of Arkansas Experiment Station was a low of 50 and a springlike 76 degrees. . . . March came in like a lamb which, according to an old saying, will go out like a lion, if you believe old sayings.

Expect Senate to Back Up Committee

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foes of the House bill to cut every family's taxes by $20 next year predicted today the Senate would back up its Finance Committee's rejection of the proposal.

But Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Finance Committee and one of the strongest opponents of the tax cut proposal, said in an interview the bill would be a compromise. He said the bill would be a compromise between the House and the Senate.

He added that a new series of preferred stock would be issued with the hope of saving about $157,000 a year through lower dividend payments.

Help Asked in Paving Streets to Hospital

Hempstead County Hospital officials asked help from the City of Hope last night in paving streets leading directly to the new hospital building. The city is considering an electrical current and water used.

Clifford Garrett and Judge U. G. Garrett asked the city to pave Elm street from 10th to the hospital site to a 100-foot wide with the county in paving 10th Street which runs from Main to Elm along the north side of the hospital.

Judge Garrett also asked to stand half of the cost of paving some 100 feet of the street. The county is paving the entire route to the hospital.

But the council showed signs of staying with a policy of long standing. The city is considering an electrical current and water used.

Preliminary Victory as House Changes Rules to Call Up Sales Tax Bill

Enforced Equalization of Property Assessments Now Awaits Faubus Signature

By THE Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Enforced equalization of property assessments — generally accepted as the most far-reaching measure of the 60th General Assembly — now needs only the signature of Gov. Orval Faubus to become law.

The Senate approved the House version of the bill, drafted by a joint legislative committee, yesterday, completing action on the measure.

Under the bill, all read and personal property must be reassessed at 20 per cent of actual market value before Jan. 1, 1957. The bill also provides for a 10 per cent increase in the assessment rate, which now ranges as low as eight per cent, and for a 10 per cent increase in the assessment rate for real property.

For the first time, the state is armed with a powerful weapon to enforce the increased assessments, regarded as the most pressing governmental financial problem in Arkansas. The bill says that any county, school district or city which fails to bring up its assessments to 20 per cent before the deadline can be deprived of a portion of the state aid to which it is entitled.

For example, if a County's assessments on Jan. 1, 1957 amount to only 16 per cent of market value, then that county will lose four per cent of its turnback funds from the state government. The same rule will apply to school districts and cities.

There is a twofold purpose behind the bill. The first is to try to get enough money from property taxes — which are levied only by counties, school districts and cities — to provide a major portion of the money needed to finance the state's social welfare program. The second is to reduce state aid, or perhaps state taxes, or to provide a major portion of the money needed to finance the state's social welfare program.

At present, the state is bearing most of the cost of local government functions, and is under increasing pressure for additional taxation to meet those obligations. Gov. Faubus, who originally suggested the bill, said it would provide a major portion of the money needed to finance the state's social welfare program.

The bill is designed specifically to provide enough money to finance the state's social welfare program. The bill is designed specifically to provide enough money to finance the state's social welfare program.

Faubus Exerting Strong Pressure for Tax Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Advocates of a 13-month increase in sales tax won a preliminary victory today in strong administrative pressure in the House day.

The House voted 54-40 for a change in its rules which may permit the sales tax bill to come to a vote before the session ends Thursday.

Today's roll call was taken after the House had voted 54-40 for a change in its rules which may permit the sales tax bill to come to a vote before the session ends Thursday.

The rules change, which would allow an hour and a half of heated debate on the sales tax bill, is expected to be reported back to the House on the sixth day before the end of the session.

Congressmen Get More Than Governors

By The Associated Press

Congressmen, by voting their members' salaries, have received more than governors of 41 states.

But a number of those governors who have received more than congressmen are now being paid more than congressmen.

The House passed and sent to the president a bill yesterday for the salaries of congressmen.

The measure permits congressmen to receive up to $15,000 a year in salary, plus travel expenses.

West Leading in Hydrogen Development

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today that the Western world has a lead over Russia in development of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

But the President said one could not know exactly how long the lead could be sustained. At the point in a news conference discussion he said that in the past the West had had a lead over Russia in development of nuclear weapons.

The President underscored the Western world's lead in atomic and hydrogen weapons in comments made yesterday at the United States and British summit conference in London.

Congressmen Get More Than Governors

By The Associated Press

Congressmen, by voting their members' salaries, have received more than governors, according to a study made by the Associated Press.

The study shows that the average salary of a congressman is $12,000 a year, while the average salary of a governor is $10,000 a year.

The study also shows that the average salary of a senator is $15,000 a year, while the average salary of a lieutenant governor is $8,000 a year.

The study was made by the Associated Press, which has been making such studies for many years.

West Leading in Hydrogen Development

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today that the Western world has a lead over Russia in development of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

But the President said one could not know exactly how long the lead could be sustained. At the point in a news conference discussion he said that in the past the West had had a great lead over Russia in development of nuclear weapons.

The President underscored the Western world's lead in atomic and hydrogen weapons in comments made at the White House yesterday.

United States and Britain must increase their superiority over the Russians would put even within three or four years.

Mr. Eisenhower emphasized that the United States will never act as an aggressive war.

He was asked about reports that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had said his government expects major aid and material aid from the United States to reinforce the mainland.

The President, replying firmly, declared that the United States was not going to be a part to any aggressive war. He said that was all he would say on that.

Mr. Eisenhower, commenting on Churchill's speech, said he felt that any statements in the nuclear arms field generally were nothing more than speculative estimates.

But the President said the United States does know that the Western world has had a great lead over Russia in development of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Exactly how long this can be sustained is problematical.

Under questioning about his use of the past tense in saying the West had enjoyed a great lead over Russia, the President said he did not mean to say that it had disappeared. He said he meant that he could not look into the future and say this lead was going to continue.

In a reflective mood, the President said that perhaps the time when such a lead is not so significant. If one country obtains a lead in the use of atomic weapons, he said he doubted that a lot more would do much good.

He said he would rather do explain to the people that they voted for a tax increase to keep the services or expand to their why services are being reduced.

Faibus said that "I have made my choice. I don't want to see old folks cut off the welfare rolls. I want to see the State Hospital and other agencies operate without sufficient funds."

The governor also was asked if he attempted to line up the large Pulaski County delegation in the House of Representatives to return to the State Capitol to support the Van Dusen-Autry bill.

Congressmen Get More Than Governors

By The Associated Press

Congressmen, by voting their members' pay raises, have received more than the governors of 41 states.

But a number of those governors who have received pay raises are not included in the list of 41 states.

The House passed and sent to the president a bill yesterday for a 10 percent pay raise for its members.

Arkansas State Police, only five states pay their governors more than congressmen would receive under the proposed legislation.

New Jersey's gubernatorial salary is $30,000, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas each pay $20,000.

All other states pay their chief executives less in salary.

West Leading in Hydrogen Development

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today that the Western world has a lead over Russia in development of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

But the President said one could not know exactly how long the lead could be sustained. At the point in a news conference discussion he said that in the past the West had had a lead over Russia in development of nuclear weapons.

The President underscored the Western world's lead in atomic and hydrogen weapons in comments made yesterday at the United States and British summit conference in London.

The President said the Russians would pull even within three or four years.

Mr. Eisenhower emphasized that the United States will never start an aggressive war.

He was asked about reports that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had said his government expects material aid from the United States to reinforce the mainland.

The President, replying firmly, declared that the United States was not going to be a party to any aggressive war. He said that was all he would say on that.

Mr. Eisenhower, commenting on Churchill's speech, said he felt that any statements in the nuclear arms field generally were nothing more than speculative estimates.

But the President said the United States does know that the Western world has had a great lead over Russia in development of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Exactly how long this can be sustained is problematical.

Under questioning about his use of the past tense in saying the West had enjoyed a great lead over Russia, the President said he did not mean to say that the lead had disappeared. He said he meant that he could not look into the future and say this lead was going to continue.

In a reflective mood, the President said that perhaps the time when such a lead is not so significant. If one country obtains a lead in the development of atomic weapons, he said he doubted that a lot more would do much good.

He said he would rather do what he could to keep the lead in the development of atomic weapons.

Giardello Knocks Out Mueller

By ED WILKS

CHICK, extremely unwilling to let anyone have a prior shot at Bobo Olson's middleweight boxing title, smashed the title hopes of Germany's Peter Mueller last night with a second-round knockout.

Giardello, 18, 155, put Mueller away at 20 seconds of the second round to stay in the forefront of middleweight contenders. Only the bell kept the 10,000 fans at the Milwaukee Arena from seeing a Giardello knockout. Giardello stretched the Cologne fighter fast six seconds before the first round ended.

It was SMU's first title in 19 years and an NCAA Tournament berth was included in the loot.

TCU and SMU were figured on a par before the season, but when TCU won the Christmas conference tournament, beating SMU 74-71 in the process, "The Horned Frogs got the nod."

The Mustangs hung in there, however, and after being in the lead for the first place with TCU during the season, squeaked out the plodding par only to nib Texas Christian at the wire and win the Southwest Conference basketball title.

Souchak May Have New Type of Ball

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) - Being of a suspicious turn of mind, we are wondering if this fellow Mike Souchak could have gotten hold of some new breed of golf ball which might revolutionize the game and turn the best courses in the country into skeet traps.

Souchak is the husky young sensation from Durham, N.C., who in the last two weeks has won two ridiculous 72-hole scores at 297 and 278 in running away with the recent Open at San Antonio and the Houston Open. He shot one round at San Antonio in 69 strokes, with a 27 on the back nine.

We asked Joe Jay Jr., who is executive director of the U.S. Golf Assn., and a sort of private eye for the ruling body, if he had heard of any new guinea missile type of ball which might account for such a crazy burst of scoring by a comparatively unknown. Would it be possible, he asked Joe, for one of the big ball vendors to get such a jump on the competition?

"I would not," he said flatly. "We see to it that there are about 5,000 different types of balls in use and there is too much money tied up in them for us to permit them to be ruled by the ball manufacturers. We aren't going to let the ball get any longer than it is right now."

All right, but how can he police such a hotly competitive industry? Souchak, who is asked Joe, for one of the big ball vendors to get such a jump on the competition?

Porkers Blast TCU, Hand Title to SMU

By ED WILKS

Chick up another one for the porkers over the hars. This time it was Southern Methodist that played the plodding party only to nib Texas Christian at the wire and with the Southwest Conference basketball title.

It was SMU's first title in 19 years and an NCAA Tournament berth was included in the loot.

TCU and SMU were figured on a par before the season, but when TCU won the Christmas conference tournament, beating SMU 74-71 in the process, "The Horned Frogs got the nod."

The Mustangs hung in there, however, and after being in the lead for the first place with TCU during the season, squeaked out a victory in the final game.

Unpredictable Arkansas up and knocked TCU out of the SMU while SMU waited in 93-90 over Texas. That gave SMU a 9-3 mark and made TCU a 7-5.

SMU had a snap against Texas, losing to the Longhorns in the first game of the season, but they came back and won the next two games.

Arkansas really pulled a chiller against TCU. The Razorbacks, who had a 7-2 mark in the season, lost to TCU in the first game of the season.

Giardello Knocks Out Mueller

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Joey Giardello, extremely unwilling to let anyone have a prior shot at Bobo Olson's middleweight boxing title, knocked out the title holder of Germany's Peter Mueller last night with a second-round knockout.

Giardello, 35, put Mueller away at 20 seconds of the second round to stay in the forefront of middleweight contenders. Only the bell kept the 10,000 fans at the Milwaukee Arena from seeing a Giardello knockout. Giardello stretched the Cologne fighter fast six seconds before the first round ended.

SMU's first title in 19 years and an NCAA Tournament berth was included in the loot. TCU and SMU were figured on a par before the season, but when TCU won the Christmas conference tournament, beating SMU 74-71 in the process, "The Horned Frogs got the nod."

The Mustangs hung in there, however, and after being in the lead for the first place with TCU during the season, squeaked out the plodding party only to nib Texas Christian at the wire and win the Southwest Conference basketball title.

Souchak May Have New Type of Ball

By GAYLE TALBOT
 NEW YORK (AP) — Being of a suspicious turn of mind, we are wondering if this fellow Mike Souchak could have gotten hold of some new breed of golf ball which might revolutionize the game and turn the best courses in the country into skeet traps.

Souchak is the husky young sensation from Durham, N.C., who in the last two weeks has won two ridiculous 72-hole scores at 297 and 278 in running away with the recent Open at San Antonio and the Houston Open. He shot one round at San Antonio in 69 strokes, with a 27 on the back nine.

We asked Joe Jay Jr., who is executive director of the U.S. Golf Assn. and a sort of private eye for the ruling body, if he had heard of any new guinea missile type of ball which might account for such a crazy burst of scoring by a comparatively unknown. Would it be possible, he asked Joe, for one of the big ball vendors to get such a jump on the competition?

"I would not," he said flatly. "We see to it that there are about 5,000 different types of balls in use and there is too much money tied up in them for us to permit them to be ruined by the ball men's tinkers. We aren't going to let the ball get any longer than it is right now."

All right, but how can he police such a hotly competitive industry? Souchak, who has won the U.S. Open, asked Joe, for one of the big ball vendors to get such a jump on the competition?
